

Online Training Courses for Bank Compliance and AML

To best serve customers and stay current with everchanging federal regulations, institutions must invest in a comprehensive training program for employees. Knowledge Bank provides in-depth training courses through an easy-to-use web-based solution.

Knowledge Bank is ATTUS Technologies' web-based training solution that offers a comprehensive collection of courses that address today's most timely regulatory compliance issues facing banks and credit unions.

This solution is not only a valuable time-saving training tool, but cost effective as well. In most cases, for the price of sending only one employee to an off-site training course, an institution can have unlimited access to all courses and train any number of employees for one year through Knowledge Bank.

All courses have been designed by experts with subject matter expertise in regulatory compliance and anti-money laundering. These courses have been created to accommodate the preferences, needs and individual learning styles of all participants such as:

- Offering basic, intermediate and advanced course levels.
- Continually updated content to reflect ever-changing rules, regulations and market trends.
- Easy navigation within the course to ensure just in time learning.
- Courses are available 24/7.
- Learners have access to and the ability to print course PDFs to study the courses off-line.

Knowledge Bank was also designed with special features for Training Administrators. Knowledge Bank provides access to ATTUS' on-line Learning Management System (LMS). This system was created to provide easy administration of our learning program where administrators can assign specific courses to learners and create reports that detail learners' progress.

The LMS can be branded with an institution's identity. It can also be used to track in-house training courses and courses provided by other vendors, so training can be administered for an entire employee base all on one system.

ATTUS also provides a customization capability that enables firms to develop e-Learning courses specially designed for their institutions.

With the authoring tool, content can be added, deleted or altered to reflect an institution's training preferences, policies and procedures. All ATTUS courses are compliant with industry standards so if there is an LMS already in place, courses can be easily integrated.

The LMS enhances the learning experience by making it easy for participants to register, schedule and track the results of their individualized learning plans.
